Who does sewing at home sometimes feels "just physically unable" to use her sewing machine, even when she owns the lightest and smoothest running, operated by foot or hand power.

If your task could be made a pleasure so that you might operate your sewing machine without fatigue and much more sewing than before, wouldn't you be interested to know this may be accomplished?

WILLCOX & GIBBS SEWING MACHINE CO. shows you how easily it is done on their PORTABLE ELECTRIC MACHINE.

BAY DISTRICT PART-SCHOOL PLANS MADE

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—Completing a three-day conference which will take 50,000 boys and girls of the state back to school, educational leaders of the bay district today prepared a syllabus of an instructional course on part-time education to be used by teachers of special classes under the compulsory part-time education act approved by the last legislature.

Meeting at the University of California, the conference was devoted to technical details necessary to carrying out the provisions of the act. The syllabus was prepared to acquaint the public further with the provisions of the act.

In a foreword to the syllabus, E. R. Snyder, State Commissioner of Vocational Education, states that the compulsory part-time education act was drawn in the interest of the thousands of working boys and girls who have in many cases been compelled to relinquish the privilege of completing the full-time high school course and that the law was enacted by the people of the state because they realized the danger that democracy runs in permitting these children to pass the most critical period of their moral development without a guiding hand competent or willing to give them the instruction which will make them safe for themselves and for democracy.

"The five-sixths of our population that leave school before completing the high school course, and especially the half that does not complete the elementary school course, are an ever ready prey for those who would sow the seeds of social destruction," Commissioner Snyder writes.

E. J. Leonard, Professor of Vocational Education in the University of California, has prepared a number of chapters of the syllabus covering topics such as "The Background of the Act," "The Significance and Need for Part-Time Education," "Other members of the faculty of the University of California who contribute chapters to the syllabus include C. L. Jacobs, Associate Professor of Industrial Education, and Supervisor of Classes for Teaching of Trade and Industrial Subjects; E. L. Griffin, Associate Professor of Agriculture; E. W. Barnhart, Assistant Professor of Agricultural Education, and E. W. Barnhart, Supervisor of Commercial Training.

The California Part-Time Education Law passed by the last legislature is printed in full.

Woodhead was manager for Sunset Magazine when it was the publicity organ for the Southern Pacific Company. He purchased the railroad's interests later and converted it into a magazine of nation-wide scope. In 1917 Woodhead left San Francisco to take an advertising post in New York.

Woodhead was a Portola commissioner, a former president of the San Francisco Press Club and a member of the Transportation Club.

SWIFT TO SAVE DAYLIGHT HOUR FOREEMPLOYEES

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Sixty thousand Chicago workers may save daylight this year, without performing an operation on the clock, it was learned today.

The packing industries will advance the opening time one hour, also closing one hour early during the spring and summer months. If the plan advocated by Louis F. Swift is adopted.

"Neither legislation nor clock is necessary," Swift said. "I believe a majority of the workers in the city will get away from the clock while there is time to have some outdoor recreation during the summer months."

SHOW BEAUTIES WIN ADMIRATION

Longers in the lobby of the Hotel Oakland are straining their eyes twice daily as groups of remarkably pretty girls pass in and out.

"What's happening?" a drummer yesterday asked a beautiful maidens tripped through the door and disappeared in the general direction of the elevator.

"Guess there must be a beauty show upstairs," he asked another beauty of fair maidens entered and disappeared.

For fifteen minutes the parade continued. An hour later the drummer was still sitting there. "I had a very important appointment half an hour ago," he said, "but I am going to stick here until that bunch comes out again."

ROMANCE OF YUKON ENDS IN DIVORCE

Two who have braved Alaskan winters together, who have been shipwrecked on the Yukon, and who have mushed, side by side, into the snow-covered gulches of the Klondike, have found married life in San Francisco too great a test.

With the making final of a divorce to Mrs. Isabelle Cleary Barnett, from E. T. Barnett yesterday there was brought to an end an Alaskan romance that outshines in adventure and achievement any of these conjured by the Rex Beach school. Mrs. Barnett charged him with associating with another woman in Los Angeles, but did not name her. Custody of two children, Virginia, 14, and Phyllis, 8, was given the mother. It is understood that there was a property settlement out of court.

The story of the Barnetts is tradition in Alaska, where every sound-dough knows how they were wrecked on a fortune. They say up there that he was the sort of man who risked much for riches and who had to be forced to reimburse those who made success possible.

Early in the days after it became known that there was gold in the interior of Alaska as well as in the Yukon Territory, a steamship from Seattle dropped at St. Michael two men and a consignment of supplies. One of the men was Barnett, but the other dropped out of the story and his name is not recalled. The supplies represented every dollar he had, and it was their purpose to take the goods into the interior and establish a trading post and possibly to prospect.

HAD NO CREDIT It was late in the season and the last boat to go up the Yukon had no room for Barnett's goods. Barnett had no credit, and although there was a small craft there he could not negotiate the use of it. There came into the story at this time James H. Causton, collector of port at St. Michael. The scheme appealed to him and he obtained on his personal credit the use of the craft and accepted as recompense a third interest in the venture—the law of the grubstake.

It was not until years later that Causton, then a customs official in Porto Rico, learned that Barnett had made a fortune. Causton wrote offering to take $5000 for his interest. He needed the money and was far away; also he knew what a lawsuit meant in view of the conditions. Barnett is said to have refused to give any money to the man who saved him from ruin, and then, according to the belief of the old timers in Alaska, his troubles really began and his luck deserted him.

Barnett's experiences as unfolded in records placed before the court in the trial that resulted in his being forced to pay close to $500,000 to him, had much of chance to govern them. He and his partner and his cargo of goods were landed at a desolate spot on the headwaters of the Tanana river. Winter was coming on and prospects for converting the goods into cash were not of the best.

Then, says the story, there was circulated one of those never questioned stories of a "big discovery" in the Tanana country, and soon there was a stampede in progress. From every point of the compass men hurried dog teams toward the reputed center of a new gold strike. They arrived and found no gold. The goods they were forced to purchase and the price was far from little.

Facing a winter lost the men decided that the stamped goods had been caused by some one interested in disposal of the goods they had been buying from Barnett. This sentiment crystallized one day and death was close to Barnett, when dawn the horizon came a dog team, belonging to which swung JIMMY WADA, famous Japanese musher. He had discovered gold a few miles away on a creek, and was headed for Dawson to spend the few thousands he had taken from grass root.

Wada told where the gold was and Barnett was dropped while the men hurried to locate claims. From this beginning there sprung into being Fairbanks, at one time the most prosperous city in Alaska. Here Barnett established himself as merchant and in a short time founded the Fairbanks Banking company. This was consolidated with another bank into the Washington-Alaska bank, which failed in 1911, owing $900,000.

SERVED TERM IN PRISON. In the trial of the suit brought by Causton it developed that Barnett had served a term in the Oregon state penitentiary and this disclosure is credited with having had much to do with his subsequent misfortunes. He paid back $400,000 of the money lost in the failure, but as a matter of grand jury indicted him seven times, embezzlement and making false statements being charged. The only conviction obtained was on a misdemeanor charge of making a false statement, and he paid $1000 fine.

At the time of the indictments Barnett had quit Alaska and was making his home in Los Angeles. He is reported to have large interests in Mexican land holdings. Mrs. Barnett is accorded the prestige of being the first white woman in Fairbanks.

When the divorce which was made final yesterday was first petitioned Mrs. Barnett introduced two strange love letters, and gave the name of Mrs. Dorothy Fullam, 440 Riverside Drive, New York, as the writer. The letters showed, apparently, that Barnett had not won her affections to the exclusion of a business associate named Tozier, who, the charter wrote, "exudes an aura of many, many women, and it is this dear deadness of their spirit which inoculates anew those others who are so unlicky as to become enamored in his net of lovely lies."

Barnette, however, was consoled with, "I have never had one jot of the faith and trust in him with which I care for you." The wife's curiosity led to the discovery of the letters and the divorce action followed. It was a little over a year ago that she brought suit against Fred G. Noyes, receiver of the Washington-Alaska bank, seeking $52,000 which she claims is due to her from the assets of the institution, and which she says was obtained after threats had been made against her life. Barnett was associated in business while in Fairbanks with Attorney Roy Tozier, prominent in Alaska politics and financial affairs.

YOUTH IS HELD FOR ROBBERY

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—"Easy money is not always easy money," Theodore Whitmore, 17 years old, discharged sailor of the United States navy, divorced husband of a Portland belle, and son of a prominent northern family, declared this morning in the Berkeley city jail. Whitmore was arrested in Union Square yesterday by the San Francisco police because of suspicious actions and later confessed to holding up S. Kubota, a Japanese shoemaker, of Berkeley, and taking $12. The preliminary hearing of the charges against him will come before Judge Robert Edgar on Friday morning. Whitmore has been given into the custody of the juvenile court.

It is a hard luck story the young chap tells. He declares that all he wants is a chance to confess and begin on a clean record. Civilian clothes, shoes and a simple outfit took most of the $99 which Whitmore had when he received his discharge from the navy. Jobs were not easy to obtain. He drifted into friendship with Oswald and the two boys came to the bay cities from Portland seeking work. Whitmore at 15 had married but his wife obtained a divorce on the grounds of desertion. "I have never been a boy or knew what it is to be a kid," he comments.

Oakland Residents 'Adopt' Forty Armenian Children

As the result of the appeal of General Aghapetian of Armenia, who said it is too late now to save the older folks of the Near East and that every effort should be made to save the children at least, more than forty Armenian children have been provided for during the coming year by philanthropic Oakland citizens and organizations.

The Oakland committee aims to make it 400. "For the sake of humanity we must make good," Chairman William Nat Friend of the Oakland committee said. "When a whole nation starves and we can only hope to save the children, the time has come to act."

Although more than forty children have been "adopted" already and provided with food, shelter and training during the coming year, the Near East Relief Workers at 244 Bacon building, are redoubting their efforts, outlining three weeks of work which will bring help to the helpless.

For $150 a child can be provided for, including the Near East Relief committee, Oaklanders have taken up the work zealously at the start, some organizations adopting two children.

Subscribers are as follows, the number appearing after each name indicating the number of children the subscriber has provided for: H. C. Capwell, 1; Joseph F. Knowlton, 1; E. P. O. During the past year the larger part of the ad club programs have been made up of entertainment numbers and speakers of general interest. During the coming year, in response to the expression of opinion by club members yesterday, more attention to problems of advertising and general sales promotion will be given.

President George A. Cummings, who has been away for five weeks, has returned and was in the chair at the luncheon yesterday.

During the coming year, a campaign to increase the membership of the club is to be carried on with the slogan, "Every Member Get a Member."

Recent of a letter by Judges A. F. St. Sure and Dudley Kinsell from St. Matthew McCutcheon, secretary of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, protesting against the purported fight between a turkey and rooster, today resulted in the statement from Judge St. Sure that he would refer the matter to the grand jury for investigation.

Judge Kinsell declared he was investigating the facts of the case, and would decide what action to take.

Meanwhile William "Fat" L'Heureux, clerk for Judge Kinsell, and Frank Schneppe, clerk of Judge St. Sure, are trying to get under by declaring that the fight really did not take place, although persistent reports are to the contrary.

The fight referred to was declared by L'Heureux to have taken place in San Mateo last Sunday and resulted in the turkey belonging to Schneppe being killed by the rooster owned by him. All details of the battle were told convincingly by L'Heureux.

The letter received by Judge St. Sure today from McCutcheon follows: "This morning's press contains an article regarding a fight between a chicken cock and a turkey gobbler, in which the latter bird was killed. The article states that the owner of the gobbler is a clerk in our department and the owner of the chicken is a clerk in our department."

Repeating to these charges, the defendants allege that the shares given Moody were in the nature of a gift to reimburse him for an alleged loss in the organization of the company, and that the concern has not in fact declared dividends. Judge Kinsell at the outset declared it was a "fool agreement" that had been entered into.

Next Tuesday night has also been designated for the hearing of the appeals of Harry G. Winham, foreman carpenter of the board of education, who was suspended on charges of dishonesty preferred by Director Fred A. Campbell, and W. G. Dabbert, a member of the fire department, discharged by Commissioner Morse for disobedience.

Carrying out the policy it has adopted for such cases, the board last night denied the application of George O. Cranmer, a fire alarm operator, for a job in the department one year to accept another position. Patrolman Steve Connolly of the police department was granted a leave of one month without pay to recuperate from a breakdown.

Approval was given to the plan of the library board to change the North Oakland branch library from a half-time to a full time branch because of increased circulation.

More than a hundred electrical tradesmen of the Eastbay district representing the power company, the electrical supply dealers and electrical contractors were present at a dinner given last night in the Pacific building by the Eastbay Electrical Trades Association.

The California co-operative campaign for the education of the public to greater use of electrical appliances in the household and which was inaugurated with an electricity-in-the-household page in The TRIBUNE on Monday, was the chief topic of discussion at the meeting following the dinner at which Hugh Kinnell presided.

The campaign for greater use of household electrical appliances is being carried on in all parts of the State. Speakers who told of campaign activities were, Captain H. Angus, secretary of the campaign; Muel Hixon, advertising director of the campaign; J. D. Holabird, an Oakland dealer; Arthur E. Rowe of San Francisco, and Clyde R. Chamberlain, president of the State Association of Electrical Contractors.

Rain Far Short; Ranchers Worry

LIVERMORE, Jan. 28.—Less than one quarter of an inch of rain fell here during the past few weeks and the total for the season is a little over three inches. Stockmen report that green feed is still very short on the ranges but there is still plenty of time for moderate late rains to insure good crops.

Pittsburg Plant Is Hit by Big Fire

PITTSBURG, Cal., Jan. 28.—A fire at the lumber plant of the Redwood Manufacturing Company here last night destroyed the electrical shop, the machine shop, the store room and a repair shop. The loss is estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000.

'AD' MEN LOOKING FOR TECHNIQUE

More attention to subjects concerning the technique of advertising is what the members of the Oakland Advertising Club want this coming year. This was the consensus of opinion of seven speakers who addressed the regular weekly luncheon of the club held in Hotel Oakland yesterday at which time the question of program policy was brought up.

The speakers were Irving Kahn, Edgar H. Barber, Mrs. Elizabeth McGibbon, K. L. Hamman, Paul Neth, Edward Stanberry and Mabel M. Bay.

During the past year the larger part of the ad club programs have been made up of entertainment numbers and speakers of general interest.

High School Girl Springs Surprise; Is Honeymooning

Richmond Student, 18 Years Old, Will Return With Husband, She Declares

RICHMOND, Jan. 28.—Honeymooning in Bakersfield today is the former Miss Mignon Crain, 18 years old, and Ralph J. Smith, 21. They were married at a Richmond high school girl and the latter a Southern Pacific apprentice of Richmond.

Mrs. Smith was supposed to be studying her lessons Monday. Instead she was in Oakland with her fiancé getting a marriage license.

They were married by Police Judge Mortimer Smith.

The parents of the bride were surprised when they learned of it. The couple has announced they will return to Richmond to live.

Mrs. Smith was prominent in the school and social service activities of Richmond girls.

Woman Kneels and Prays Before Jury

SAN JOSE, Jan. 28.—The unusual spectacle of an aged woman kneeling in prayer before a jury in a crowded courtroom was presented in a department two of the Superior Court when the case of Mrs. Minnie Reiser, a quaint character about town, was about to be tried.

Mrs. Reiser is charged with insanity and demanded a jury trial. Just as the case was about to be opened Mrs. Reiser asked and received permission to say a short prayer. She knelt and asked the intervention of her God in the case at bar. Attorney Maurice J. Rankin, who was appointed to defend Mrs. Reiser, asked for time to get acquainted with his client, and the case went over a day.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 28.—Apparently none the worse for their experience, Rodman Wanamaker II, and five other members of his sea-plane party, were resting here today after being adrift in the gulf stream for twenty-six hours. Engine trouble, which developed shortly after the party left West End, Grand Bahama Island, Monday afternoon for Palm Beach, forced them to descend to the water.

La France Company Sued on Agreement

Claiming that A. H. Winder and E. Livingston of La France Company, a merchandise concern at Fourteenth and Clay streets, had broken an agreement to purchase 2340 shares of stock from him, E. Moody today began suit before Judge Dudley Kinsell for $2340, the reputed sale price.

The complaint sets forth that the shares were to be paid for out of declared dividends and that a semi-annual accounting would be made to Moody to show the status of the company. Moody alleges that the concern neglected to keep books or to make these accountings and has refused to purchase the stock on the ground that no dividends have been declared.

Repeating to these charges, the defendants allege that the shares given Moody were in the nature of a gift to reimburse him for an alleged loss in the organization of the company, and that the concern has not in fact declared dividends. Judge Kinsell at the outset declared it was a "fool agreement" that had been entered into.

DIDN'T KNOW WELL DAY FOR FIVE YEARS

President of Parent Teachers' Association Says Tanlac Should Be in Every Home.

"It certainly is wonderful how quickly the right medicine will get a sick person feeling right again," said Mrs. O. J. Wheeler, residing at 1321 Harrison street, Kansas City, Missouri, while discussing the merits of Tanlac, recently.

Mrs. Wheeler is president of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Hamilton School District, a prominent member of the Woman's Dea Five Auxiliary of Macabees, also a grade nurse. She is not only popular socially, but is active in all civic matters and is one of the recognized leaders among women in her community.

When asked if she was willing for her statement regarding Tanlac to be made public, Mrs. Wheeler said: "Yes, indeed, and you may tell them I am speaking from experience when I say I consider Tanlac by far the best medicine I have ever found. I had not taken it I believe I would not have tried everything and I am still a sick woman, as I had been, but I am glad to make a statement that may be of some benefit to others who are trying it."

Five years ago I received injuries in a fall, which resulted in my health becoming very poor, and I could get nothing to do me any good. Then in the spring of last year I was taken down with the flu and being already in a weakened condition, the attack was extremely severe on me. I was left with no appetite and my stomach in a worse condition than ever. I could hardly eat anything without suffering intense pain and such a pressure on my heart that I could scarcely breathe. I had lost weight had the worst sort of headaches and was so dizzy at times I could hardly walk. I also had severe pains in the small of my back, suffered with heartburn, constipation and bloating, and never knew what a well day was.

I had been reading the testimonials for Tanlac for some time, and, as some of them were given by people of my acquaintance, I concluded to try the medicine myself. Well, it just seemed to suit my case exactly and I had acted so differently from other medicines I have used. By the time my first bottle was gone I had a good appetite and the gas had stopped forming on my stomach. Then I bought another bottle, then another and so on and just kept improving until my ailments all disappeared. I am now enjoying better health than I have in five years. In fact, I am feeling unusually strong and well and all the praise, thanks and gratitude for this wonderful change in my condition belongs to Tanlac. If everybody knew its value I do not believe would be without it."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

CITY SELLS NINE HORSES FOR $307

Commissioner Baccus announced to the city council this morning the results of the sale of nine horses that once hauled wagons of the street department but were banned as having served their allotted time.

The nine horses—there were originally ten of them, but one failed to survive the period between the authorization of the sale and the sound of the auctioneer's hammer—brought $307.50, the prices ranging from $22.50 up to as high as $47.50.

During the proceedings City Attorney Hagan was confronted with a problem when the one horse died at a time when the necessary contract for the sale had been drawn up calling for ten horses, but the necessity—more apparent after the death of one of the animals—resulted in a decision not to change the document.

The council approved the results of the sale.

Test Scheduled for Auto Accident Law

Whether or not the law which requires that any principal in an automobile accident must remain on the scene to offer assistance to anyone who will hold when it is not shown that the second party received injuries, will be tested out in superior court when the case of Albert Kauffman, held in $1000 bail, is brought to trial.

Kauffman, who was charged with running into the machine of Emanuel De Mello on Twelfth street and Lakeside boulevard, on arraignment in Judge Lormer Smith's court, denied that it was his automobile that caused the accident. He also said that he stopped and argued with De Mello, and that had there been any request for him to remain he would have in mind of the conflicting testimony Judge Smith held that the matter was one for the superior court.

HIGH SCHOOLS FOR CHINA

Furthering a general plan of education with particular emphasis on academic training for women, the Northern Baptist Convention has planned to establish in China at least five new high schools for girls and provide them with adequate buildings to meet the demands of modern education. Only one woman in every 320 in China can now read in order to overcome illiteracy the government has recently approved of a simplified phonetic alphabet of thirty-nine characters. NEDDERMAN GETS UNIQUE PRESENT

Former Chief of Police J. H. Nedderman, now acting as desk sergeant at the Central police station, today received a present. If there is any one thing dear to the heart of the policeman, whether he wears the regalia and gold lace of the chief or whether he is just a new recruit on the "fog-belt" beat it is his stick. And if it happens to be a special kind of night stick with a history behind it, it is cherished.

Today Sergeant Nedderman—only he is "Hill" called "chief" around the police station—received a stick that is a piece of ironwood from the keel of a sailing vessel that has sailed the seas for eighty years, and was only recently dismantled on the Atlantic Coast. The fragment from the keel of the old whaler, from the most famous of the Iron (three) mites in the gold rush of 1849, was sent to Nedderman by an aged uncle in Maine.

It has traveled many hundred thousands miles and is seasoned by the waters of many harbors and foreign ports.

Nedderman says it will make a wonderful nightstick when properly carved and polished.

LET "DANDERINE" SAVE YOUR HAIR

Get Rid of Every Bit of That Ugly Dandruff and Stop Falling Hair

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisulfated coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. It makes the hair shine, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and free from itching. You can get Multisulfated coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last even on the family for months.—Advertisement.

SORORITIES ARE NARROW SAYS WILBUR

STANFORD, Jan. 28.—President Ray Lyman Wilbur today released details of the policy of Stanford University to take over the living facilities of fraternities and sororities here. The board of trustees has been urged to take steps to supply additional dormitories and dining halls as promptly as possible. The immediate plan is to build an additional dormitory for women. The present sorority houses would then be taken over by the university and used as dormitories for men.

General dissatisfaction with the fraternities and sororities as they now exist is given as the principle reason for this action. That these secret organizations are undemocratic and narrow is inferred by President Wilbur in his annual report. He says that independent groups with national affiliations occupying houses owned by them upon unfavorable property and carrying on functions properly belonging to the university do not merge into the full life of the university. As long as societies can exist and are so conducted at Stanford as to be consistent with the founding grant of the university, Wilbur says, they will not be interfered with. That they do not so exist now is implied by Wilbur's recommendation that the sorority women be housed in dormitories at the earliest possible moment.

This action really means that the fraternities and sorority chapters will be allowed to exist but that the members must live in dormitories and cease to carry on most of the functions that these organizations now exist to carry on. This would defeat the primary end of the fraternal organizations in colleges and it is very likely that they would soon cease to exist.

Simultaneous mingling of the fraternity and sorority houses as they now exist at the university is also objectionable to Wilbur. The board of trustees has passed a resolution declaring that such a condition is not to the best interests of the university, and that it is undesirable that any sorority house should be located at a relatively remote point of the campus with only fraternities as immediate neighbors.

WEINSTOCK RAPS SENATOR BROWN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Harris Weinstock, who has resigned as state market director, saved California from "sad mess" and a serious financial loss by not putting into operation state markets advocated by Senator William E. Brown of Los Angeles. Weinstock declared in a letter today sent broadcast. Brown's plan was the establishment of markets to which the farmer could consign his products to be sold for him by the state on commission. "I plead guilty to having exercised discretion permitted under the law," Weinstock's statement says. "I refrained from establishing such markets because I was morally certain they would get the state into a sad mess and involve it in more or less of a serious financial loss." Weinstock has given ill health as the reason for his resignation.

U.C. Student Absent When Warrant Served

Efforts to serve Harold Graven, University of California student who ran down and killed Mrs. Marian A. Forrest, 523 Thirty-first street, early Friday morning, with the warrant issued Monday night by Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue charging him with manslaughter, failed yesterday owing to the absence of Graven in San Francisco. Graven appeared in Judge Samuels' police court Monday, but at that time no complaint had been filed. The case has now been continued until Saturday morning, and if the warrant has not been served prior to that time, it will be served then on the youth whose negligence, according to the coroner's jury, contributed to the death of the aged woman.

To Workers in the Shipyards and Commercial Shops of the San Francisco Bay District

The full membership of the California Metal Trades Association at a general meeting held January 27th unanimously pledged its purpose to make permanent the American plan policy, under which its shipyards and commercial plants were recently reopened, AND UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSED THE ACTION TAKEN BY THE ASSOCIATION IN REFUSING TO MEET IN CONFERENCE WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE BAY CITIES METAL TRADES COUNCIL.

The following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS experience gained thru studying procedure in large Eastern manufacturing centers where satisfactory conditions both as to employer and employee exist, has invariably demonstrated that the American plan of operating an industry is eminently the best and most satisfactory to all concerned; and

WHEREAS, the American plan of operation is rapidly gaining favor in industrial centers of the United States; and

WHEREAS, California manufacturers in order to occupy their just place in the progress and development in industry in this State must follow the approved plans of operation; and

WHEREAS, the California Metal Trades Association, the largest factor in this State in the manufacturing and shipbuilding industry, being alive to the requirements for its activities, has adopted a policy and shop rules on the American plan for the guidance of its members—such policy and shop rules being based on justice and equity between employers and employees, and in no way antagonizing labor organizations or discriminating against employees that may or may not be affiliated with labor organizations; and

WHEREAS, the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council addressed a communication to the California Metal Trades Association asking for a conference which the California Metal Trades Association found itself compelled to refuse;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the action taken in so replying to the letter from the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council be endorsed and heartily commended; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we, the members of the California Metal Trades Association, in body here assembled, affirm and ratify all actions taken since October 1st, 1919, by our Executive and Advisory Committees, and

BE IT RESOLVED AND DECLARED that we firmly and unequivocally will abide by said policy and shop rules, and pledge ourselves not to deviate from the same, and to operate our plants on the American plan.

Washington are threatened with serious financial losses. Particularly acute is the situation as regards the moving of lumber. Appeals for help from the Railroad Administration have been in vain. Taking the promises of the government rail heads into consideration the West Coast Lumbermen's Association nevertheless declares in a circular: "The outlook for a car supply is bad."

There is talk around Seattle of the time having arrived for a "showdown" and of a united demand from all the interests in the Northwest. It is evident that the Railroad Administration, about to close shop, will not be allowed to retire as gracefully as it might desire.

THE PERSHING IDEA.
It is peculiarly American that the greatest military figure in this country should be opposed to militarism. In Oakland and Berkeley Sunday General Pershing left no room for doubt as to his position and, at the same time, took issue with a certain group of army men who have advocated long-term compulsory training.

"I do not wish war," said Pershing. "No one wishes it less than the man who has gone through it. Let us not even think of militarism for there is no such thing as militarism in a democracy like the United States."

The Pershing idea of military training is from four to six months of service for every young man, training to improve him physically and morally and to acquaint him with military discipline. Then let him return to his business or vocation with no other obligation except to serve in the event that Congress declares war. To the mind of the commander-in-chief of the American forces in France some such system as this is necessary to make certain that we shall not find ourselves, once more, in a condition of absolute unpreparedness.

THE SOLDIERS WHO DIED.
Although those directly concerned have little doubt in their minds as to the course that should be followed, considerable discussion has been held throughout the country over the question as to whether the remains of all soldiers of the American Expeditionary Force interned in France should be brought to the United States or permitted to rest where they have been laid. It is not even clear how this question came to the fore and who provoked it. Charges were made in Congress a few days ago that the coffin makers and manufacturers of burial costumes and funeral accoutrements were behind the agitation.

It seems that Congress and the government ought not to be in doubt as to the policy which should be adopted. In all cases where parents or closest relative request that the remains of an individual soldier be brought to this country for interment in the family plot the government should be ready with such permission and assistance as may be appropriate. But the government should reject any proposal for the wholesale removal of the soldier dead from the field where they won immortal glory through the great sacrifice.

Former President Roosevelt, who measured up more closely to the ideal statesman, soldier, citizen and parent than any other American, said, "Let the tree lie where it hath fallen." He lost a son in France and he spoke from the emotion of a non-combatant sufferer of the war, as a bereaved father. Bishop Charles H. Brent, senior chaplain of the American expeditionary forces, has addressed an open letter to Secretary of War Baker and the next of kin of the American dead in France regarding the return of the bodies of soldiers who fell overseas. Therein he aptly says:

"America has left to the nearest of kin in each case the decision as to what the final resting place of our dead is to be—whether in France or in this country. No one will dispute the right of parent or wife to claim the fulfillment of the promise made by the American government to return to America the bodies of our dead soldiers. But it is conceivable that there are those who, after learning the plan to establish and maintain in France an American field of honor for those who are forever overseas, may consider this the more excellent way."

"A bill to incorporate the movement has already been presented to Congress and is to be reintroduced shortly. There will be an American central field of honor with as many departments as may be necessary. Here each year on an appointed day commemoration of the dead will be observed. Over all the sheltering folds of the Stars and Stripes will forever wave."

With the Field of Honor Association and the grateful people and government of France to watch over them there need be no fear that the graves of the soldiers who fell in battle will be neglected. Whatever may happen in the future to alter the existing relations between the American and French republics the French people will never forget their duty to those who fell in the days of close and effective union. In any event the American public should show the deepest repugnance to the ghastly effort of the undertakers and embalmers to profiteer on the poor bodies of those who gave their lives for the safety of their country.

Let the man who belittles his own efforts read the words to a popular song. There is evidence there to convince the most skeptical that a large number of persons earn their living by doing things no rational man would dare to attempt.

Of course Lacy Page Gaston may run for President or any office she chooses, but cannot something be done to make her picture look a little less like she was in the act of detecting the odor of one of those vile cigarettes?

NOTES and COMMENT
It is learned from the despatch that La Follette's trouble is due to his teeth this time. The other time it was due to his tongue.

There are humors of highway-mans as well as other activities. The two robbers who abandoned their purpose to hold up a man who was deaf and dumb through fear that he would call for help is in point.

The Santa Rosa offer to endow General Pershing with a prize orchard is a variant of the csteem manifest for him everywhere. And a healthy prize orchard is not a perfunctory manifestation of csteem, either.

"Jewels from Egyptian tomb sets New York fashion." Reads gristly, but may have a high-toned effect. Fashion sometimes springs from unusual sources, like the succulent mushroom.

The news which tells about a proposal of Chilean senators to make that country dry indicates that they are all doing it. Our instance is not sporadic.

Leaders in Congress plan to adjourn June 1. It is a good hark ahead, but it is to be considered that there is a great deal to do, and not perfect unanimity in doing it. The country will congratulate itself if Congress shall carry out its plan.

The national organizations of food canners have declared intent to do something to the high cost of living. There is no doubt that if all who are concerned in putting up food in containers should earnestly set about throttling high prices, results that would gladden the heart of the ultimate consumer would ensue.

As long as the Los Angeles example is so near at hand and not availed of, the San Bernardino complaint that its census return is inadequate is not likely to attract a great volume of sympathy.

The disastrous consequence to a boy from handling firearms is again a theme. News account is that a lad "received a bullet while cleaning a weapon. The query as to why anybody should leave a weapon loaded while cleaning it would be pertinent but for the other question, why a boy is permitted a firearm."

"So near and yet so far." The admiral in command at San Diego has issued orders that no officer or enlisted man shall cross the border to witness the sport at Tijuana.

The arrest of a man for purloining a saxophone is noted. Perhaps if he pleads that he was not going to purloin a saxophone, he will not go so hard with him.

The proposition to put thronees with star medals is certainly new and novel. Publicity is the modern levor to move things, and perhaps it is equal to bracing thronees into upright position again.

In this day when highwaymen are operating so freely, to complicate the police effort by reding thrilling experiences that never happened is considerably less than admirable. The young woman who claimed to have been robbed to account for the squandering of her pay check is in point.

We are advised from the French department of the University of California that the defeat of Clemenceau for the French presidency has not the least significance—that he was too forceful for the job. The which is so entirely at variance with such matters as they happen in this country as to be entirely incomprehensible.

GOLD VALUES.
To the Editor of the Tribune: Your editorial 13th inst. criticizing Professor Fisher's "stabilization plan" is lacking in one important feature, namely, the substitution of a better one. Changing the weight of the coin to meet the depreciated or enhanced value of the metal, is, of course, absurd. Doing away with gold coin and substituting paper certificates redeemable in bullion of the value of the debt, seems entirely unnecessary and a very clumsy method of securing the desired justice. Other and better ones have been offered. However, the gold standard works such glaring injustice that any effort to improve on it should be encouraged. "Value," says John Stewart Mill, "is what a thing will exchange for." Today a gold dollar will, on the average, exchange for about half as much as it would five years ago. That establishes its value. The world has seen greater variations in the value of gold than this. The value of all commodities expressed in terms of gold is constantly changing. The quantitative theory of money, like the Malthusian doctrine, may not be reduced to a mathematical formula, nevertheless its history shows that its value tends to vary in an inverse ratio to its quantity. It is a pretty safe guess that the money of the United States has been nearly doubled since the war commenced. As a result the value of the dollar has been reduced by nearly one-half, prices nearly doubled. The value of a contract entered into in 1914, measured by the gold standard, is now worth little more than one-half. In view of this plain injustice to creditors in long-standing agreements, pensioners, annuitants and officials whose salaries were fixed prior to this depreciation, Professor Fisher would commend a method of doing justice. Apparently the simplest scheme yet devised for doing justice to existing contracts and all future contracts is through the index number of, say, 100 staple articles of daily consumption. The variation in the value of the dollar between the date of the contract and the date of payment being known the obligation should be cancelled by the return of a sufficient number of legal tender dollars embodying a like purchasing power. This as a standard of value could be determined by the government and established at such periods as the variation in the value of the dollar seemed to make necessary. This scheme is said to embody no serious difficulties and no possibilities of fraud. It is Scrope's tabular standard of value. Professor Fisher is undoubtedly well acquainted with it. Why not propose its adoption? Why not accept a full legal tender principle? A French philosopher once remarked that a man might have his fist full of knowledge and content himself with opening his little finger. The professor is wise to the difficulties. He observes a very large Senegambian in that wood pile. Great and powerful interests desire the continued use of gold as money. The adoption of Scrope's standard of value would obviate the apparent necessity for the use of coin money, as it would reduce "the one and only fatal defect" of a paper currency—the liability to over issue.

Just as present a great majority of the people are viewing with indifference the indirect robbery of a large creditor class. A few years hence the great bonded debt of the nation will be in the hands of comparatively few people; the templa-

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Just Why Apples May Be the Very Best Fruit for You

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSCHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

Of all the edibles of the earth there are no viands more delectable, more nutritious and more various than fruits. Think of meats, milk, eggs and vegetables. The very sameness about them all in color and taste makes them monotonous. Fruits, however, by their fragrance and combination of tastes, are not so limited. Even so, the apple, as a species as the apple exhibits itself in the hues of the spectrum and the odors of the Orient.

The public has passed through the stage of the nothing-but-food fads and the 100-chews-to-a-bite advocates, and now the apple, with one fell swoop, dominates the hopes and expectations of the dentist, the doctor and the beauty specialist.

According to the apple growers the apple is "fit" as it contains medicinal and food values so highly praised by dietitians. "An apple eaten at night," they assert, "is a splendid scourer of the teeth." And to the sufferer from pains and aches generally they say: "Eat apples, for the magnesia contained in the raw apple will prevent rheumatism by purifying the blood."

Apples contain phosphorus, sulphur, iron, magnesium and lime. Life cannot exist without phosphorus, and there is a full dose of this excellent tonic in its most soluble form, phosphoric acid, in the apple.

For just the right dose of iron eat apples. For there is enough to keep a sufficient number of these important little red corpuscles in the blood, without which the blood cannot do its work. The iron found in apples is more easily taken into the blood in this form than that purchased from the druggist.

Apples are good for the complexion, as the sulphur in them has an especially beneficial effect upon the skin and skin diseases.

Rickety children should by all means have plenty of apples to eat. They form nourishment for the bones and the teeth. The lime and phosphoric acid contents of the apple are so beautifully combined that they make an ideal dose for this sort of trouble.

Alternate a teaspoonful of scraped apple with orange juice for the child of 1½ years.

To aid digestion, clear the voice, obtain a beautiful complexion, relieve insomnia and reduce the high cost of living, depend upon the apple.

Fruits, however, such as the apple, really contain vitamins, mineral fertilizers for the human flesh, in the form of iron salts, with phosphates and sulphates, sulphur and phosphorus.

Of course, apples are laxative. They are decidedly an advance over pills, salts, aloes, calomel, magnesia, cascara and the other all too popular "internal baths."

If the old platitudes, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," has any truth in it at all, it has its origin not in any nonsense about "rheumatism," which is often flat, feet and fallen arches, a trouble beyond the reach of fruits, but in the salts, vitamins and nutritious food values of Pippins, Beauties, Rosebuds, Sheepnoses and the other hundreds of popular varieties of Adam's fruit.

ODD CUSTOM OF CHRISTENING.
Chinese parents are afraid to give their children the fine high sounding names their love suggests, lest the evil spirits, of whom they stand in constant fear, should come to understand how precious they are and cause them some calamity. So the little ones are called by such names as Little Stupid, and the like, the idea being that when the spirits hear the children called by such uncomplimentary names they will imagine that the parents care very little for them, and will not take the trouble to molest them.—Indianaapolis News.

HOPE.
"The number 7 is regarded as lucky," hope it is," commented Mr. Crossland. "Maybe the number 7 will enable me to get a seat in the street car sometimes."—Washington Star.

THE CABINET CHANGES.
Another shift in the President's cabinet, with a new face appearing. The latest comer is Hon. Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa, who takes up the portfolio of Secretary of Agriculture, succeeding Hon. David F. Houston. The latter is transferred to the head of the treasury department, succeeding Secretary Carter Glass, who has tendered his resignation that he may take his seat in the United States Senate.

As to the ability of the new cabinet member, Mr. Meredith, there is no record of a conspicuous nature. He is an editor, something as to a favorable presumption, but one of that exceedingly rare type who is able to enjoy the luxury of a winter home in Miami, Florida. He has also been twice defeated in the election contests for public office in his State, once for governor and once for United States senator. The office of Secretary of Agriculture, although it might be one of the most useful positions in the cabinet, does not attract much attention anyway and there will be few who will envy Mr. Meredith his new honor.

The office of Secretary of the Treasury is an important position, however. That the man who fills it should have unquestionable ability in the present period of readjustment—theoretical, at least—cannot be gainsaid. Will Mr. Houston fill the bill? As Secretary of Agriculture he has been a hard, steady worker, proving himself more than most of his colleagues in the cabinet. But during the war period he was greatly overshadowed by the food administrator and was discreetly content at his fate.

However, he has wasted as much white paper as any other bureaucrat—with the possible exception of George Creel—in telling the patient public about his performances. During the brief period he will be at the head of the Treasury Department he may not have the opportunity for any very grave mistakes. Mr. Houston is very cordially liked by former Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and his promotion may have been the result of this friendship.

The rule of having no one in the cabinet with convictions of his own and the courage to assert his views has not been seriously impaired by the latest changes.

STEVENSON AND TODAY'S CROP.
What would Robert Louis Stevenson think of those modern young men and women who are so busily engaged in "establishing in America definite claim to poetic distinction"? With what indulgence, if any, would he regard their cracked meter and splintered lines?

The chances are that if Stevenson were alive and were bold enough to express an opinion on the subject he would be sneered at as an old fogey and one of "those who still cling to the archaic."

It was only twenty-five years ago that Stevenson laid down his pen for the last time. He was a stickler for meter, and, if we are to take his word for it, it was his ambition to become a master of form. If we are to believe some of the newer poets no work of the formalist can be permanent and that which Stevenson wrote is the product of artifice.

The Stevenson who will be remembered hundreds of years after his avocadic critics is not the same as the one who was acclaimed, during that period shortly after his death, when "Stevensonism" became the vogue. As the years have passed some have proclaimed, with show of wisdom, that "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" is closely related to the penny shocker and that "Treasure Island" is extravagantly melodramatic. Stevenson confessed that he intended "Jekyll and Hyde" to be a regular "dime novel" sort of book, and owned to the glib that was his in filling up adventure and thrill in "Treasure Island."

The process of appraisal that comes with time has been at work and the world has taken from the gentle writer that which it has needed. No onslaughts of rough-writing new poets will cause us to forget "The Celestial Surgeon," "Requiem," "A Song of the Road," or the verses in a "Child's Garden." And there are prose passages in some of his essays that will live as long.

Promised relief from a serious car shortage in the Northwest has not been afforded and the lumber and farming industries of Oregon and

KEEPING ON THE MAP.
Illinois is getting a reputation. Chicago is the home of the mayor of the "greatest German city in the United States and has a sheriff who pulls off a show of hanging a convict, inviting, or rather forcing the other convicts to attend the function, and now the State's attorney defies the Department of Justice which requested that he let up on the "red-arresting" business until the government has perfected some details to make the raids effective all over the country. Looks as though our politicians are most of them, running amuck.—Chattanooga Times.

DEMPSEY TO BE QUIZZED ON CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Federal agents today were set in motion in an investigation into the status of Jack Dempsey, world heavyweight champion, to determine whether he was guilty of being a slacker.

E. M. Blanford, chief of the department of justice in this district, today submitted to United States Attorney Annette Adams a report embodying facts now in his possession concerning Dempsey, principally accusations brought against the fighter by his wife, Maxine Dempsey, who recently asserted Dempsey compelled her to sign affidavits of dependency in an effort to evade the selective service draft.

Mrs. Adams later placed the report in the hands of Assistant United States Attorney C. W. Thomas, world war veteran, with instructions to thoroughly investigate the entire matter. Inasmuch as Dempsey obtained exemption from military service while residing in San Francisco, any action against him would emanate from this city.

Shortly after published accounts, quoting Mrs. Dempsey as charging her husband with having compelled her to make possible his exemption, the disappeared from Wells, Nevada, where she was stopping and, according to last reports, registered last night in Ogden under an assumed name.

Oakland Population Will Approximate 220,000, from Census Data Compilation

Oakland's population will run between 210,000 and 220,000 when the final compilation of figures in the census recently taken is made public, according to information of Census Supervisor C. L. Donohoe this morning. At the outset Donohoe made a guess that the city's population was 215,000. Today he said the census count is showing that he was not more than five thousand off in his estimate.

The exact figures cannot be made public, according to the rules of the census, except after they have been verified by the bureau of the census office at Washington, so city boosters will not know where this city stands in the list for another six months, as that is the probable time required before announcements will be made from the central census office.

COUNT PUT IN MAIL.
The first shipment of completed reports to Washington was made today when the completed work of forty of the 250 enumerators in the county was put in the mail. Within ten days, says Donohoe, the entire set of population schedules will be in the mails for the cities of the county, although the population count in some of the distant rural sections of the county is not yet complete. The agricultural census reports, which were taken concurrently with the population count, will not be mailed for another two weeks as the entire clerical staff of Donohoe's office has been at work on the population schedules since the completion of the census count two weeks ago.

Although the maximum population allowed for the city under Donohoe's statement today falls considerably short of the original goal of a quarter million, it is said by persons in touch with the census work that Oakland will show a larger percentage of gain over the count in 1910 than will any city on the coast.

which no additional territory was annexed within the period.

FEW PERSONS ESCAPE.
But two hundred census clips were returned from the 2000 taken out by mail carriers through the Oakland postoffice as an aid to the count, and after checking them over in the census office all but twenty of them were found to be already enrolled on the census books.

The fact that but ten per cent of the names secured by mail carriers and which were supposed to be of persons not counted in the census is taken to indicate that there were few persons overlooked in the field count of the city. A local department store checked over its staff of 500 employees last week to learn if any had been missed and it was learned that all but four thought they had been counted. Of the four who thought they were missed, two developed later, had been enumerated through the apartment house manager where they were living.

As the 1910 census shows a population of 153,000 for Oakland, the 1920 census shows a count of 220,000 there will have been a gain of 67,000 in the city's population. This is an increase of slightly more than 45 per cent.

NEW 'FLU' CASES HERE TOTAL 45

Developments in the influenza epidemic today showed forty-five new cases in this city reported to the local health department, bringing the total number of cases since January 14, when the epidemic was first discovered, to 349.

Four more deaths reported to have taken place on Monday bring the total number of influenza deaths up to 9. Only one new death from the coincident pneumonia epidemic has been reported during the past days, the total now being 24.

Health Officer Dr. Daniel Crosby this morning emphasized the need for additional nurses, both practical and trained, and the call for help has been broadened to include also kitchen help.

In many homes, according to Secretary John H. Mellon of the Health Department, several members of the family are down with the influenza and are unable to get sufficient nursing help and housework employees.

CAL. GRAYS SANCTIONED BY COUNCIL

Efforts to obtain the sanction of the City Council for a plan to organize a platoon of the California Grays in Oakland had a perilous journey through the council chamber this morning. Approval of the project was held up by Commissioner Soderberg when a resolution favoring the organization and supporting the plan to organize the platoon here was introduced by Commissioner Edwards.

"Who knows anything about this organization," asked Soderberg. "I don't."

"The California Grays have been in existence for about thirty years," commented Commissioner Baccus, "and anyone who has lived in this state any length of time knows of them."

When Wallace Hussey, a first lieutenant in the Grays, explained the move to organize units of the San Francisco body here Soderberg questioned him about the personnel of the organization and asked whether or not it was a "closed corporation."

Hussey explained that the membership was elective, that fourteen members have already been obtained, and that the Grays are self-supporting but under the call of the state and allowed to bear arms.

Hussey proposed that his resolution be referred to Soderberg for investigation with the city attorney, but Baccus and Morse declared themselves prepared to grant the council's sanction to the project.

When Charles Young, another officer in the Grays, explained that the organization will be under government control, Commissioner Soderberg withdrew his objection and the resolution was adopted.

Accompanying the resolution was a letter from Mayor Ralph of San Francisco commending the Grays and introducing the organization to the Oakland officials.

Edwards presented the resolution at the request of a committee on organization for the Oakland units consisting of Scott S. Castle, F. W. McDonald and C. Young. The communication pledged the Oakland Grays to stand ready to help the city in every way possible.

Waterfront Sub-Lease Ratification Is Asked

Ratification of a sub-lease to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company of a portion of the western waterfront property under lease from the city by the council was asked of the City Council this morning by the City Attorney.

The question was referred without comment by the Council members to the Commissioner of Public Works, Frederick Soderberg, and City Attorney, H. L. Hagan for an investigation of the sub-lease and report on the project to the Council.

The sub-lease was entered into on December 24, and covers a strip of ground 30 feet by 70 feet in dimensions. The lease will be effective from January 1 over a period of five years with a monthly rental of $100.

The police say Nesbitt had recently recovered from a serious operation, and believe this may have had some connection with the accident.

Berkeley Physician's
Facing a statutory charge, Dr. Holmes Troutman, a Berkeley physician, was on trial this morning in the police court of Judge George Samuels. He was arrested several weeks ago by inspectors Emigh and Orbell after a complaint had been filed by the parents of Herbert Kramer, a 14-year-old boy, formerly of Berkeley, but now living in San Francisco. The case was continued until February 2.

Benefit Dance To Aid Wives of British Dead

MRS. DAISY VANCE, who is directing benefit entertainment for widows and orphans of British sailors who were victims of German submarines.

Affair Staged by Members of Berkeley Overseas Club— Former Britishers

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—As a tribute to the patriotism of sailors in the British merchant marine who were victims of the German submarine campaign, members of the Berkeley Overseas Club, an organization of former Britishers, will stage a benefit concert and dance on Saturday evening in Unity Hall.

The entire proceeds of the benefit will go to a fund to be devoted to the widows and orphans of the sailors who lost their lives during the operation of the German U-boats. This number of war dead, according to figures just compiled, totals 17,000 British sailors lost and 30,000 disabled by submarines exclusive of the British navy.

Other features of the program will be songs by Mrs. Vance, well known in Bay city musical circles; dancing numbers by Miss Lucile Lowell, talented child performer; selections by a trio composed of Eunice, Elton and Dick Lehmer and vocal selections by F. Gallaway. Dancing will follow the program.

All former Britishers and others interested in the cause for which the entertainment has been planned have been invited to attend the benefit.

NEW FIRE RATES PLANNED BY CITY

An investigation preceding a campaign to secure a reduction of fire insurance rates in the city was announced today by Commissioner of Public Health and Safety F. F. Morse, who is averaging figures on which to base the campaign.

Commissioner Morse is securing data from other cities of similar size throughout the country for the purpose of drawing a comparison of fire losses and insurance rates and at the conclusion of the investigation the appeal for reduced rates will be laid before the Board of Fire Underwriters.

With the reduced fire losses shown during the past few years and the increased protection provided through the motorization of the fire department and the addition of 122 new men, it is Commissioner Morse's contention that the taxpayers should have some return in reduced rates.

In supporting his contention Commissioner Morse has compiled figures showing that fire losses in the city have materially decreased since 1915, while the property value involved has increased.

In 1915 the property valuation involved in fires was $1,112,645, while the fire loss was $123,159. In 1919 the property involved amounted to $8,736,828, while the fire losses totaled only $128,000.

JEWEL THIEF IN S.F. IS RELEASED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—San Francisco police had in their custody a $10,000 jewel thief, only to turn him loose because there was no one to claim the gems. It is the theory of Chief White, formed today when the owner put in an appearance, is borne out in fact.

Mrs. John McClellan, wealthy New York woman, today put in her claim to the possession of the gems that have been held by Chief White since December 25, apparently without an owner. The New York police wrote to Chief White saying that the jewels were stolen from Mrs. McClellan after she had placed them in the custody of William Riddle, a hotel clerk on December 6.

On December 25 a man giving the name of W. H. Martin was arrested in San Francisco on suspicion. He had the jewelry in his possession. No charge was made against him, but Chief White kept the jewels until Martin, now thought to be Riddle, could establish ownership. Martin, or Riddle, has disappeared.

EXPERTS TRY TO PRESERVE NOTED TREES

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—That the trees on the University of California campus by the college department of agriculture will save the lives of the famous landmarks, is the belief of the college gardeners. Recently the campus gardeners announced that the trees, among which is the Le Conte oak, were dying, and that the only hope of saving them would be to supply the roots with moisture and food.

The agriculture department decided upon a novel method of nourishing the trees, and with the work nearing completion the oaks it is believed will respond sufficiently to regain their strength. A labyrinth of trenches was dug about the tree roots, and these were filled with water, which was allowed to stand for several days until the hard-packed ground had soaked up sufficient moisture. The trenches were then filled with a combination of sand, fertilizer and leaf mold.

How Do You Feel—When You Stoop?

Slow and sluggish movements, tired action, backache, rheumatic pains, stiff joints or sore muscles indicate that something in the human system is out of order. In most cases, these symptoms are the result of waste matter or poisonous acids being left in the blood by the failure of the kidneys to properly do their work of filtering and casting out impurities from the blood.

STOPPED HIS BACKACHE
"I am 70 years old. I tried Foley Kidney Pills, thinking I needed them—my back was hurting and aching all the time. I got so bad that when I would stoop over in the store while at work I could hardly raise up. Such an excruciating my back, that I had to use one bottle of Foley Kidney Pills, my backache was entirely gone and I felt good and strong. MAIL EARLY
IS PLEA OF ROSBOROUGH

Inaugurating a campaign for earlier mailing by business houses which have a large amount of correspondence, Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough today addressed a luncheon of the Progressive Business Men's Club in the Hotel Oakland explaining the arrival and departure of the mails, and urging them to put their mail in the collection boxes several times a day instead of at the close of the day as is the common practice among most business men.

Four thousand printed copies of the schedule of arrival and departure of the mails from the Oakland postoffice have been printed and commencing tomorrow will be distributed to business offices of the city as a part of a campaign for earlier mailing.

"Practically all of the commercial mail is not placed in the collection boxes until between the hours of 4 p. m. and 5 p. m.," Rosborough told the business men. "This means that some of the mails leaving the local postoffice are overcrowded while others carry very little mail. This strains the facilities of the office during rush periods while work is very slack in other parts of the day. Aside from this, the mail is delayed from twelve to eighteen hours, thus straining the facilities of the office during rush periods while work is very slack in other parts of the day."

"I am distributing these schedules of mail departures with the request that business men make it a point to prepare their mail for various cities at such times during the day as conform with the mailing schedule of the office," Rosborough said. A series of talks before various business men's organizations of the city will be made by Rosborough as a part of the campaign for earlier mailing. Schedules of the arrival and departure of mails are on hand at the local postoffice for distribution to the public.

Baby Fails to Cement
Love of Its Parents

How the advent of her baby had brought trouble between herself and husband, instead of cementing their union, was told by Mrs. Alice Nickerson in her divorce suit against Leland Nickerson, a shipyard worker. She testified that her husband flew into a rage when told she was about to become a mother and that after the child was born he showed an extreme dislike to it and declared that the baby had come between him and his wife. She was granted an interlocutory decree with custody of the baby and $50 a month alimony. Guy T. Bowman, employed by the McGraw Publishing Company, used true cave man tactics upon his wife by knocking her down, slapping her, and throwing her violently about the house, Mrs. Bertha Clark Bowman testified. She was granted a decree and $50 alimony.

The steam schooner Pasadena, owned by the Southern Pacific Company and operating between this and northern lumber ports, is at the Hanford wharf, receiving a general overhaul. The Pasadena was built at San Francisco thirty-three years ago and is of 300 tons register, with an engine of 300 horsepower and was using coal for fuel until oil was discovered for that purpose. She was the first steamer to be fitted with an oil burning plant. (Updine Beck is master of the craft, while James Howland is the chief engineer. Both are pioneer mariners of this city.)

It was announced here today that a local salmon canning company has purchased a new hull recently launched at Portland and is having it raised at a four-masted barkentine at that port. Work is being rushed so as the craft can be completed and sent to this port, where she will load stores and provisions for Alaska this season. The new craft has not been given an official name but it is rumored to be named after one of the officials of the salmon company. She will operate here.

The gasoline schooner Martha, which has been on the coast since Point St. George since last October, was floated yesterday and taken to Eureka. Owing to the rough weather it was impossible to launch her before.

The steamer Flavel of the Hammond Line was grounded at Gunther's Island for over twelve hours yesterday and was pulled off by tugs and proceeded to Eureka, undamaged. The Flavel is owned by the Wood Lumber Company and used for the coastwise lumber trade.

The motor schooner Lassen was reported aground in the mud on Deadman's Island, San Pedro. Tugs were standing by the island, but the schooner at high tide she managed to get off without assistance and is reported as undamaged. The schooner is owned by the Wood Lumber Company and used for the coastwise lumber trade.

The schooner Harvester, which sailed from Apia on December 3 for Oakland with a cargo of copra, was reported as having put into Honolulu yesterday leaking and short of provisions. The Harvester was recently purchased by the Charles Nelson Company and took a cargo of lumber to Australia. She is 737 tons register and was built at Newburyport forty-eight years ago.

The four-masted schooner Mindoro, which arrived here on January 5 from Levuka with 730 tons of copra, under command of Captain E. C. Lassen, has discharged her cargo and sailed yesterday for the Columbia River, under command of Captain William C. Olson, where she is to load a cargo of lumber for Adelaide. The Mindoro has been purchased by Walter Scammell of Oakland since she arrived at this port.

The new schooner Ellen A. has been chartered by the J. J. Moore Company to take a cargo of lumber from Puget Sound to Sydney, Australia, at the rate of $37.50 a thousand feet. Seventeen vessels arrived in port during the past twelve hours, bringing cargoes of different kinds. The lumber arrivals amounted to 2,092,000 feet, on five vessels. The schooner Outline from Eureka brought 370 tons of copra from Suva, while the steamship Ecuador from Manila and way ports brought passengers and merchandise. Other craft were regular visitors from coastwise ports.

The official trial trip of the steel steamship City of Berkeley, launched on June 14 at the Union Construction Company's shipyard, West Oakland, was a success yesterday. The new

DOUCHER IS BLAME FREE WOMEN SAY

AN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Three of the four persons most intimately interested in the alienation of affection suit brought by William G. Smeltzer against Rev. John F. Poucher, former pastor of San Francisco Central Methodist Church, today denied the charges. They are defendant and Mrs. Poucher and Smeltzer herself. The minister's suit is standing loyally by him, adding the charges against him as in ever popular, and so, too, the woman involved with him in suit.

"There is not the slightest foundation for these charges," says Mrs. Smeltzer. "My husband is unable to a single instance when Rev. Mr. Poucher and I were together with some one else also being present. I have received from Poucher were sent me by the minister and his wife, and I have the cards to prove it. I have lived during my whole married life with him."

Smeltzer's attorney is James White, a member of the board of directors of the church of which Mr. Poucher was pastor. White is acting for the preacher. Poucher has made the following statement:

"Our married life has been a happy one. I am sure of my husband's love and he is sure of mine. We have spent our honeymoon in Long Beach and Los Angeles was the first real vacation had in years, and I enjoyed every minute of it. My husband could not have been lavishing attentions on me as he did during the trip because I was so attentive to me he had no time to see any one else. I went to sleep right by my husband and he was proven false."

Mr. Poucher has been denied by Judge Bernard Flood, at request of Smeltzer's attorneys, to appear before a notary Friday and deposit affidavits to facts in the case, admitting also all of the correspondence between himself and Mrs. Smeltzer.

McKinley, Alaska, is visible clear days for more than 125 miles.

MRS. WILLIAM G. SMELTZER, whose husband involves her in the suit for alienation of affections which he has brought against Rev. John F. Poucher, former pastor of San Francisco Central Methodist Church.

Mists Rule Down Town, But Sun Warms Oakland Suburbs

Gray mists played pranks in Oakland today. Winter reigned in the downtown section. Tops of buildings were shrouded in mystery and wires dripped dew on the shivering passers-by. The big view of the bay and the city and streets invited shifts to the timid tourist. It was a foggy, wet morning through which the business folk crowded.

They had come from early spring into the midst of winter time. Sun shone and birds sang, daffodils bloomed and thin frosts appeared even within the shadows of the skyscrapers. It was the city streets which clung to the late season. In Berkeley the early risers hailed a gorgeous sunrise of gold and pink. In Fruitvale soft sunny air was warmed by a glowing sun. Vowed by the promise of summer skies, new clothes were brought out to meet the dampness of fogs. Curls and ringlets disappeared in a thrice. Commuters had no fear of collisions and disastres. No fog covered the waters.

TRIO ROBS FOUR MEN IN SALOON

Armed bandits operated in Oakland last night. Shots were fired on the streets and in the saloon of one of their victims, and there were two exciting pursuits in which citizens joined with police. No arrests were made.

In the saloon of J. J. McCarthy, 325 Clay street, three unmasked men forced five customers and the proprietor to line up against the bar and to disgorge all their valuables. A movement by McCarthy brought a shot from one of the thugs, the bullet narrowly missing the saloon man's head.

With a warning that an outcry would mean death, the three backed out of the saloon, got into an automobile waiting outside and escaped. In all they had taken no more than $25.

Surprised hiding in the back yard of Mrs. Albert Malloy, 1058 Twenty-first street, a prowler last night ran along Linden street pursued by D. H. Malloy, a son, and Ray Malloy, 1029 Twenty-first street. Patrolman C. E. Hulse joined in the chase and fired three shots at the man, who escaped. Half an hour later, the three men again saw the man. Two shots were fired by Hulse before the man escaped by jumping on a Key Route train.

The Oakland police are today investigating several minor burglaries and thefts which were reported this morning. In no case did the marauders secure anything of great value.

Several thefts were reported to the police this morning by lodgers in rooming houses, who stated that rooms were entered by the use of pass keys last night and clothing and other property taken.

Expected success in stealing the purse of Mrs. N. D. Cullen, 545 Taylor avenue, Alameda, while she was shopping in an Oakland store. The purse contained $10.

Mother of Scalded Babe Goes Insane

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—An overturned pot of boiling soup covering her baby and causing his death on January 15, resulted this week in the commitment of Mrs. Filomena Tassinari Cursi, 236 Lobos avenue, to the state hospital at Stockton. The tragedy has temporarily unbalanced the mind of the mother, it was determined by the lunacy commission.

In playfully raising a strap above her head to play with the 2-year-old baby, she dropped the kettle of boiling liquid from the stove, immersing the child. The baby died on the way to the hospital. Four days later Mrs. Cursi began to display signs of insanity. She is 29 years old.

SHIPYARD MAN IS BEATEN BY MOB

Reports to the police this morning of the beating of J. Van de Peer, 1108 Oak street, a veteran employee of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, by a mob last night as he was coming home from work. Van de Peer had just crossed the Webster street bridge when he was stopped by a crowd of about thirty men. They demanded to know whether he worked in a shipyard. He replied that he had worked in local shipyards for many years and expected to continue doing so for many more years.

They asked him if he would agree to quit his job and upon his refusal to do so six men seized him and threw him to the pavement. He suffered many cuts about the head and face.

FORCE INCREASED

Chief Lynch has ordered that the force of patrolmen on duty at the exits of the different plants be augmented at the hours when the shipyard workers are entering or leaving the gates.

Several hundred strikers, it is said, went across the Webster street bridge from Oakland yesterday in little groups and congregated behind the warehouse buildings and other structures on the Alameda side, near the bridge, and also near the Alameda Bethlehem plant. At quitting time, according to the police, the strikers suddenly appeared from behind the row of buildings and moved towards the several thousand workmen who had left the plant and were hurrying towards Oakland and the San Francisco ferry train at Webster junction. Lieutenant of Police George Daly and squad of Alameda patrolmen hastened to the place and held back the strikers. The Alameda police crossed the bridge into Oakland territory in driving back the strikers and protecting shipyard workers.

ROBBERS OF BANK SOUGHT IN OAKLAND

Oakland may furnish an important clue in the solution of the looting of the Bank of Byron yesterday morning and an arrest may be made here today, says the Contra Costa county sheriff. The bandits came from and returned to Oakland, it has been ascertained.

Sheriff R. H. Veale of Contra Costa county, said this morning that $40,000 is a conservative estimate of the loss in coin, jewelry and securities.

The manufacturers of the 150-pound acetylene tank which was left behind by the robbers reported yesterday that it had been sold to an Oakland customer. Sheriff Veale was in consultation with members of the Oakland police department last night and efforts today are being made there to trace the purchaser of the tank.

FINGER PRINTS OBTAINED. Excellent finger prints were obtained here yesterday by the sheriff. The automobile, it is believed, will also prove an important clue. Descriptions of the tires have been obtained. The two front wheels had Goodyear tires. One of the rear tires was a vacuum and the other a straight tire. That the automobile disappeared toward Oakland has now been ascertained. It was also discovered that the machine after unloading its occupants and equipment at the bank, parked in a lot just off the concrete road, a short distance away.

WOMAN HEARS CAR

The automobile was heard by Kate Legrand about 1 o'clock. She conducts a hotel near the bank. At 1 o'clock she arose and turned the switch which turns on all the lights of the hotel. This is believed to have frightened the robbers away.

Mrs. J. H. Wightman, who lives on the highway near where the car parked, reports hearing it flee.

It was learned last yesterday that 110 of the 150 boxes in the safety deposit vaults had been looted. Had the robbers not been frightened they would have finished the job, it is believed. Some of the boxes were burned open and others broken open with a mallet and chisel.
